Annika Larsell - Biography

Annika Larsell is a Swedish–Spanish actress based in Stockholm, known for her versatility and captivating screen presence. She has portrayed characters ranging from the poetic and whimsical hippie in Pages of Us to the strong, intense lead in the short film A Real Gun, demonstrating her ability to move seamlessly between comedy, drama and layered emotional storytelling.
With a background in dance, figure skating and music, and exceptional skill in physicality, expression, accents, stage combat and firearms handling, she fully transforms for each role and conveys emotion with depth and impact. Fluent in multiple languages and experienced across theatre, film and television, Annika is an artist in motion whose presence is vivid and dynamic.
